MASONS CONFER HIGH DEGREES ON SEN. HARDING

President-elect Goes To Columbus To Receive Honors
HOLDS CONFERENCE

Speculation Rife as to Selection of Secretary Of Labor.

Marion, O., Jan. 5.—Warren G. Harding, master mason, laid aside affairs of state today to take up the square and the compass of ancient free and accepted masonry. He left here early today for Columbus where he will receive the masonic degrees from the fourth to the thirty second, under the auspices of the Scioto Valley consistory. Four of these degrees according to the program, will be conferred and the remainder will be conferred.

A group of 32nd degrees masons from Marion accompanied the candidate carrying with them a masonic ring, to be presented to him when the fraternal bonds shall have been added to those friendship already existing.

Before the departure, the president-elect held brief conference with Fred W. Upshur, treasurer of the Republican national committee and Clarence M. Wooley of the American Radiator company who discussed the business and labor situation.

The visit yesterday of W. N. Doak, regarded as the representative of the four railroad brotherhoods, has caused increased speculation as to the probable selection of secretary of labor. Doak's declaration that the wage earners of the country felt that the man chosen should "carry a union card" has placed emphasis on the candidacy of President John Lewis of the United Mine Workers and has added the names of W. G. Lee of Chicago, James O'Connel of Pennsylvania and others to the list supposed to be under the consideration.

Free predictions made by both labor leaders and employees of possible industrial strife have lent importance to the labor appointment, as it is felt a selection not antagonistic to either organized labor or employers would go far in averting discord.

Doak stated when asked about possible labor troubles that the brotherhoods were concerned exclusively with their own affairs and contemplated no sympathetic strikes whatever.

Senator Harding prepared for his experiences as a Masonic neophyte by aiding last night in initiating a number of candidates into Canby lodge No. 51 Knights of Pythias of which he is a member.

SEVERAL THOUSAND THEATRICAL FOLK ARE UNEMPLOYED

As Result of Road Failures Many Are Stranded.

New York, Jan. 5.—Five thousand actors and actresses are unemployed in this city and many others are stranded at distant points, victims of wide-spread failure of road companies during the last year.

This statement was made by the Actors' Equity Association which announced it had undertaken the task of succoring the unfortunate stage folk, especially those thrown upon their own resources in distant cities.

The greater proportion of road failures the association asserted was due to irresponsible managers, who entered the profession during the World War, when the financing of theatrical projects comparatively was easy.

From September, 1919, to the end of 1920 more than 30 companies failed while on the road, the statement said.

WARN AGAINST REPRISAL

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 5.—In his message to the Democratic Legislature today, Governor A. H. Roberts urged that no reprisal legislation be attempted against the incoming Republican Governor. The date of the inauguration this month has not been fixed.

“$10 ENOUGH FOR INAUGURATION”—BORAH

Washington, Jan. 5.—"Why is an inaugural ball—and if so, how much? That's the riddle propounded by Senator Borah, who is 'dead agin' the proposal to revive the inaugural ball on March 4 with all its old time brilliancy and splendor. Four years ago $70,000 was appropriated for the inaugural ceremonies. This year it is said the expense will reach $100,000."

"I would like to limit the amount to be spent to $10, which is enough money to pay the President's automobile fare to the Capitol and back," says Senator Borah.

And if the Senator finds his ears tingling with such warmth that he knows the reason. Fair society maids and matrons are all talking and think his opposition to the ball is "just horrid."

PACIFIC FLEET ON WAY TO PANAMA FOR MANEUVERS

Will Meet Atlantic Squadron For Battle Practice.

San Diego, Cal., Jan. 5.—The vanguard of the Pacific fleet has steamed south for the winter maneuvers off Panama, where the Pacific and Atlantic fleets will meet for battle practice and athletic contests.

By noon Friday nearly half of the Pacific fleet, about forty vessels will be heading for the tropics.

The vessels which left here were the hospital ship Mercy and the tugs Sonoma and Ontario. The cruiser New York which left San Pedro was to join them off this port.

The fleet leaving here Friday will join the battleship fleet from San Pedro and San Francisco 25 miles off this port.

About forty vessels will still be based at San Diego harbor while the fleet is south.

Returning north the warships will again be in American waters March 8, according to present schedule.

The 14 airplanes and the convoying vessels enroute to Panama since Thursday will resume flight to Acapulco. They are laying over at Banderas bay, where the two giant NC type planes joined the twelve F-5-L planes late Monday after a fast trip across the gulf of California from Magdalena Bay. Today's trip will be 439 miles.

OUTCASTS MAKE CANADIAN COLONY

Ottawa, Jan. 5.—The Ottawa Journal published a story that Oscar Tokoi, former Premier of Finland in 1918 condemned to death by the Russian Soviet Government, had settled on a farm at North Temiskaming with 39 fellow exiles.

These men, the newspaper says, have formed a small colony after having been sent to Canada, where they received farm land from the British Government.

Tokoi was head of the Finnish Diet when Kerensky was Premier of Russia under the early revolution. He was deposed and became a political exile.

New York, Jan. 5.—Reports that Maude Adams had retired permanently from the stage were met last night with the announcement by A. L. Erlanger and Charles B. Dillingham that she would make a re-appearance under their management early next fall.

"Miss Adams has never had any intention of giving up her work as an actress," the announcement said.

"She is at present in splendid health having completely recovered from the illness that compelled her to abandon her tour in the autumn of 1918."

It was explained that in addition to appearing in regular productions each fall, Miss Adams would be seen every spring in Shakespeare and other classics.

FORMER BASEBALL PLAYER USES SKILL TO FELL BURGLAR

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 5.—"Ah wants what's in dat cash register," demanded John Moore, 23, Louisville, Ky., negro, pointing a huge pistol at Edward Sheldon, manager of a Folz g grocery on Third Street.

"There it is, take it," replied Sheldon.

The would-be robber started to carry out the cash register when Sheldon, who is a baseball catcher, threw a two pound weight at the negro striking him on the head and felling him. The negro attempted to rise and Sheldon threw another weight which landed on the negro's skull. A third weight found a lodging place on the black's "hardest spot," and he lay unconscious with his skull fractured.

Reports current in London have stated that a newly created Canadian navy is to co-operate with the United States navy in the Pacific, using American naval bases. These reports are entirely unfounded, Secretary Daniels said.

TWO MORE ARRESTS MADE IN LIQUOR PROBE WEDNESDAY

FATHER AND SON DIE IN FLORIDA

Two more arrests in the liquor cases being traced down by the Sheriff and deputies in connection with the shooting scrape at Osborn last Thursday night, in which three men were wounded, were finally, were made Wednesday morning.

Gilbert Shade said to be in partnership with "Goldie" Rohrer, in the sale of liquor unlawfully, was arrested at Miamisburg at three o'clock Wednesday morning by Deputies Birch and Day. Rohrer was taken into custody by Dayton police late Tuesday night, and held for local authorities.

It is alleged that Rohrer and Shade have been selling liquor unlawfully, and that Shade has been delivering the liquor. It is charged that Shade delivered a quantity of liquor to John Hancock, of Fairfield, now under bond, on a charge of selling liquor in the pool room in Fairfield, operated by Paul Galliher and Clarence Slater. Slater is now under arrest charged with keeping a place and of selling liquors, but Galliher has escaped.

Hancock is alleged to have taken the liquor procured from Shade and furnished it to Courtland B. Nelson, a foreman at the Wright Aviation Field, who in turn furnished it to Joseph Abels, Chastain and Orlo Holden, who while drunk, were involved in the shooting scrape with Marshall Schneider. Chastain and Holden are now charged with shooting with intent to wound, while Abels, the third member of the trio died as the result of the wounds.

Shade and Rohrer, will be arraigned in the court of Magistrate J. E. Jones.

FARM LAND BONDS MAY BE EXTENDED

Washington Jan. 4.—The proposal to extend for a period of five years the farm land bonds which mature in May, 1922, was considered today by the house banking and currency committee. These bonds aggregate $340,000.

The proposition was presented to the committee by Charles E. Lobdell, farm loan commissioner and member of the farm loan board. It is argued that under the present and probable financial conditions in this country during the next year the retirement of these bonds at the date of their maturity will withdraw so much money from industry as to seriously impair the ability of the banks to care for the needs.

The committee members expressed reluctance to act in the matter until the U. S. Supreme Court shall have rendered a decision in a case that is pending before that tribunal testing the legality of the law under which the farm bonds were issued.

DID WE HELP OR HURT BY "ENTANGLING ALLIANCES AFTER THE WAR?"

London Dispatch, January 1st, 1921: "Never has the new year opened with the outlook so obscure as 1921, for never has the whole world been confronted with such difficult problems as it faces for the coming twelve months. In the past, individual countries and empires have been threatened with and have suffered destruction, but never has the entire world been threatened with disaster as it is threatened today. After the Napoleonic wars, Europe suffered from trade depression and social unrest, but in those days every nation was, for all political purposes, self-contained and able to support its relatively small population out of its own production. Now nations are not self-contained and they cannot support their relatively small populations out of their own resources unless they have the power to sell to other countries the surplus of those things which they can produce and to buy from other countries whatever they cannot produce themselves."

"There is a real danger of nations not being in position to buy or sell even as much as they did in 1920 and consequently it seems to be practically certain that an era of privation and suffering will in the next twelve months be extended to every country in the world in greater or lesser degree."

This certainly is a gloomy outlook, and just at the time that we were congratulating ourselves that we were bettering things. We were feeling proud that we had stopped war, and through the League of Nations we were going to inaugurate peace the world over. Surely the stoppage of the war was a move in the right direction, but have we bettered matters by tearing the nations apart and trying to readjust them? Who can answer this mighty question?

HERE'S HOPING 1921 MAY TR EAT US BETTER AS A NATION THAN 1920 DID.

Everybody is glad to see an old year go, for however hopefully we start out with it (and we always start that way), we are usually convinced before it is over that we made a mistake in picking it—it is the year ahead, that is going to work the marvels for us. "Man never is but always to be blest."

The old world was broke and couldn't buy our products, and huge stocks that had cost the top notch to produce remained on our hands. The result was a stoppage everywhere. People wouldn't buy and merchants canceled their orders. Then, of course, the factories had to shut down, and it doesn't take an economist to know that throwing people out of employment doesn't start buying. One of our biggest business men, whom we call the farmer, was caught with a tremendous production which had cost him war prices to get ready for market and for which the year 1920 provided no market. The farmer's cattle that he had been boarding at hotel prices wouldn't fetch their keep. His wheat that had been planted and harvested and hauled and warehoused by the most expensive labor ever known on a farm—collapsed in price almost out of sight.

That's what 1920 did to business, which is to say it did it to everybody for the way we're all interlocked in the modern industrial system—farmer, manufacturer, merchant, wage earner—one can't be knocked down without the whole row of dominoes following. We all went down, and 1920 stood around and watched us try to get up. Being down, government thought it a favorable opportunity too, to load a few more taxes on our backs—and that didn't help us to get up. Strange, too, government seemed to think it would.

That seems to be a fair and unprejudiced statement, if a brief one, of the kind of a year 1920 was. It was a period we may hope is going now if not gone. At any rate here is a new year, and anything new is promising.

EACH FAMILY PAYS $200 A YEAR.

The government, so far as finances are concerned, is simply a panhandler. When it wants money it writes to the folks, and all it gets it gets in letters from home. If it spends 4 billion or more a year, it asks every family to contribute on the average $200 apiece to support it.

Two hundred dollars a family is a lot of money. It keeps millions of people busy scratching to raise it. Every head of a house would find it much easier to support his family if he didn't have to send that $200 to Washington.

That is why people are incensed by the extravagance of the government departments that make no effort to hold down expenses, and particularly by the action of men like Secretary Baker, who enjoys spending other people's money, and who now proposes to throw away Camp Funston while asking for 4 million dollars as a starter for permanent barracks at Camp Pike, an army post that for some reason has caught his fancy.—Exchange.

THE PEPTIMIST.

The peptimist is one who works with most exceeding vim, and sets example to the shirks who may keep tab on him. So many men, with dragging feet, go to their tasks each day, with scowls they shuck the ears of wheat and thrash the bales of hay. With scowls they ply the shinin' g saw or wield the useful chisel; they're only happy when they draw the pay they think they earn. And when there is a slump in trade, and workmen must be fired, these delegates are first to fade—they've made the bosses tired. The peptimist has taken pride in labors safe and sane, whatever tool he may have plied, a corkscrew or a plane. He did not go with dragging step when morning whistles blew; in every motion there was pep, no sulky fits he threw. And when a slump in trade appears, and workmen are laid off, the boss announces, through his tears, "We'll keep this hustling toff. We can't afford to let him go, he's such a useful man; we'll keep him, though, to Tom and Joe we must attach the can." The peptimist is in demand wherever commerce dwells; he makes his progress through the land, and wears his string of bells.

"I SHOULD BE ASHAMED TO GRUMBLE OF MY OWN BURDENS WHEN I VIEW YOURS, JOHN!"

NEW CURRENCY TO MAKE APPEARANCE IN FRANCE, REPORT

A new form of money is about to make its appearance in France. This new currency, according to information received from its Paris correspondent by the Bankers Trust Company, of New York, will be coins made from a composition of bronze and aluminum. It will replace the emergency paper money issued during the war in two, one and one-half franc denominations. The new money will affect reform in French "pocket money" by providing small change that is more convenient, durable and sanitary than the paper bills.

The two franc, one franc and 50 centime bills, because of the depreciation of French money, have been used as small change along with the old ten and twenty-five centime coin with the result that they have been submitted to wear which small paper bills cannot long withstand. These bills were issued temporarily by the various Chambers of Commerce in France under a special agreement with the Government under which an equal amount of Bank of France notes are deposited in the Bank of France by the Chambers of Commerce for paper money which they issue.

The small paper currency will be withdrawn as fast as the new coins are issued. Since there is some difficulty in securing the metal necessary to make the coins it is estimated that it will take two or three years to complete the change.

It is difficult to secure an exact statement of the amount of small paper money to date. It is certain however that the figure is at least four hundred million francs. The amount actually in circulation is about three hundred millions, one million having been either reimbursed or kept by collectors or destroyed by use.

The new coins or "jetons" will be acceptable throughout France and will be issued under the responsibility of the Ministry of Finance the Chambers of Commerce serving merely as the distributing medium.

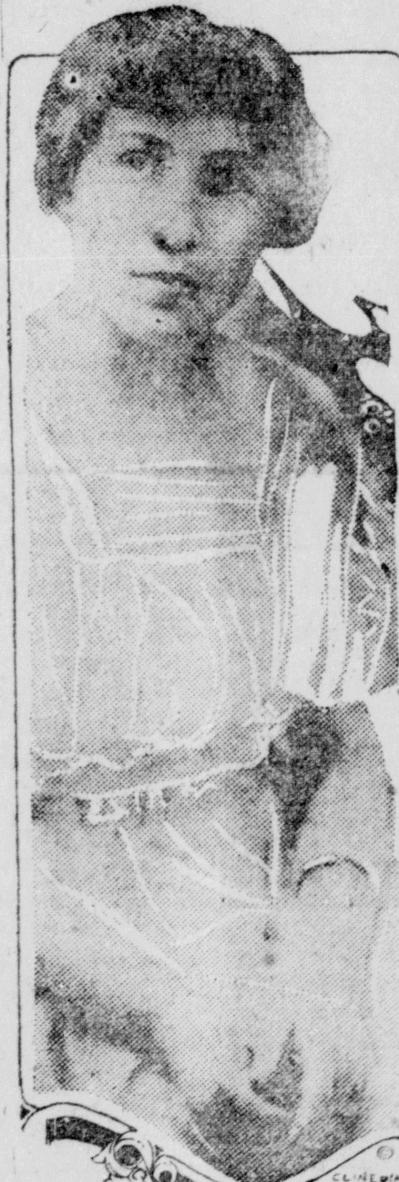

Because of the shortage of nickel and copper coins as well as small bills, the handling of street car fares and small purchases has caused general embarrassment for some months. The Compagnie Generale des Omnibus which controls practically all the surface lines in Paris has applied to the city authorities for permission to issue small coins of its own for facilitating the payment of fares. These coins when issued will be produced by a private firm and will be acceptable only as fares.

MAIL PLANE IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 4.—A United States air mail plane was destroyed by fire with 200 pounds of mail here today following a spectacular landing by pilot F. B. Borgs, in the heart of the residential district. Borgs set out for Reno this morning and 2,000 feet up his motor stalled. On account of a heavy fog there was absolutely no visibility and trusting to luck the flyer coasted downward. Fifty feet above their tops he discovered the residences lining Geary's street near Hayes. Borgs maneuvered his plane so as to effect a landing in the car tracks of Geary's street.

The motor trouble resulted in the plane bursting into flames upon landing. Borgs escaped uninjured.

THRILLING STORY COMES TO LIGHT

Throughout the afternoon and night of the 14th the men trudged through the snow. Fortunately there was little if any frost in the air. They had taken with them all the provisions left on the balloon including the three carrier pigeons.

On the 16th the men began to despair. They realized they were lost and began to fear that they would perish in the wilderness. By this time all the food had been eaten and two of the three carrier pigeons were killed and eaten.

Note: The account fails to say what happened to the third pigeon. It is possible it may have been released with a message and lost its way. This part of the dramatic story will not be revealed until the men reach the railroad here or at Moose Factory.

Plans were then made for a second expedition for the balloon later on.

After resting over Christmas in the trading post, where they had a feast of venison steak, the Americans set out in sledges guided by Indian runners.

(Note: According to the Anglican minister account the men were leaving Moose Factory on December 26 but the Americans had reported in their telegram of last Sunday to the Rockaway naval authorities that they would depart on December 27.)

The Rev. Hawthorne White, the Anglican minister at Moose Factory, quoted the balloonists as saying they could have stayed in the air for hours longer as they had thrown out all their ballast.

white man's world.

The traders at the post were astonished to learn that the balloonists had left New York only a few days before. And in fact this furnished one of the most dramatic features of the entire adventure. Within a short 24 hours the men had passed from the metropolis of the western world—New York City—to the heart of a virgin wilderness. From a city teeming with life and the seat of railway, steamship and street car lines to the midst of a desolate land, untroubled by the foot of man and without any of the necessities or comforts of a civilized land.

A party of trappers set out on December 18 to recover the balloon but the men returned saying that it could not be carried through the deep snow.

The Hudson Bay post employees at the request of the Americans sent out one of their runners to Moose Factory to send a telegram to New York. Lieut. Kloor wrote the message and this telegram was the first word that the world had of the rescue of the balloonists.

Plans were then made for a second expedition for the balloon later on.

After resting over Christmas in the trading post, where they had a feast of venison steak, the Americans set out in sledges guided by Indian runners.

(Note: According to the Anglican minister account the men were leaving Moose Factory on December 26 but the Americans had reported in their telegram of last Sunday to the Rockaway naval authorities that they would depart on December 27.)

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—if You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards' well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

NINETY EMPLOYES OF P. R. R. AND FRIENDS ATTEND BANQUET

Ninety Pennsylvania road officials, friends and fellow employees of Howard Norris, who retired as supervisor of telegraph and signals in the electrical and mechanical department, January 1, were seated at the banquet given in his honor at the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening.

The chicken banquet was the climax of an informal reception held for Mr. Norris at four o'clock, and was prepared and served by the wives of employees of the telegraph and signal department, with Mrs. B. L. Hughey in charge.

Following the banquet Charles E. O'Brien, who succeeded Mr. Norris as supervisor on the Cincinnati division and the C. L. & N. road, introduced B. H. THIS IS THE BIRTHDAY OF CICERO

Cicero was the greatest orator in Roman history just as Demosthenes was the greatest orator in ancient Greece. Every girl or boy who studies Latin is obliged to translate some of Cicero's orations, usually his most famous one against Cataline.

Marcus Tullius Cicero was born in the small town of Arpinum in Italy 106 years before the birth of Christ and he was killed near Rome in the year 43 B. C. As Rome derived all her greatness from Greece it was natural that her prominent men should be sent there to study. "If I had only heeded my sister's advice and taken Tanlac three years ago I would have saved myself a world of suffering," said Mrs. J. W. Marshall, 1112 So. Fifteenth St., Toledo, Ohio.

"For ten years I suffered from stomach trouble and nervousness and finally got so bad I was miserable all the time. I had to guard carefully against eating any solid food, for if I did my stomach would cramp me till I'd want to scream. Often the hurting would continue for hours and bring on choking and smothering spells."

"I never got a good night's rest and always felt dead tired and got so weak I dreaded to attempt to do any housework. I got fearfully blue over my condition, and wondered if there wasn't any medicine anywhere that would help me."

"After reading several Tanlac testimonials I remembered my sister in Indiana had tried three years ago to get me interested in Tanlac, so I made up my mind to try it and I soon found it was the right medicine for me. Right from the start I began to improve and now after taking three bottles I am feeling just fine."

"I am stronger than I've been before in ten years, and I sleep as sound as I ever did. I never enjoyed my meals more than I do now, and continually have to guard against eating too much, for I'm hungry all the time."

"I am glad to tell of the good Tanlac has done me and hope many other people now suffering may be helped by it."

Tanlac is sold in Xenia by Sayre & Hemphill, in Yellow Springs by A. Finley, Bowersville, N. K. Bowermeister; Fatfield, Paul P. Young; Osborne, C. J. Logsdon; New Burlington, W. C. Smith.

Is It Yours

THIS IS THE BIRTHDAY OF STEPHEN DECATUR

January 5, 1779

One of our early great naval commanders, Stephen Decatur, was born in Maryland in 1779. His father had been on the sea, in fact, had been in command of a ship which was used to capture British vessels during the Revolution. After the war, he settled in Philadelphia, then in Maryland.

At 19, Stephen began his naval career—the manner then was to become a "midny" on a vessel. He distinguished himself first when, with a squadron in the Mediterranean, he offered to set fire to one of our captured vessels, which the people of Tripoli had in their possession. With a few men he stole into the harbor, set fire to the boat and got away again under a raking fire with the loss of only one man wounded. Nelson said it was "the most daring exploit of the age," and Decatur was an international hero for a long time.

He was made a captain and given a sword by Congress and served all through the war with Tripoli. In the war of 1812, his ship captured one of the British vessels, but later when he had command of New York Harbor, he was blockaded by the British and his flagship fought against four English ships. He was captured and as much honored by his foes as his countrymen for the way he fought.

He was killed a few years later in a duel with a man who thought Decatur had said something against his good name.

BIG STEEL COMPANY ANNOUNCES CUTS

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 4.—Just before noon today, the Jones & Laughlin Steel company, largest of the independents, announced a reduction in selling prices on pipe and other tubular products to the level of the industrial board prices established March 21, 1919. This is an average reduction of $7 per ton on all classifications of pipe goods. There are so many percentages, lengths, shapes and sizes that detailed quotations are not practical, it was stated. This brings all pipe prices to the level now quoted by the National Tube Company, or the United States Steel corporation. It was also stated that these prices are rock bottom and there will be no further cuts. The Republic Iron and Steel company, of Youngstown, made the first break in pipe prices last week.

Mr. Frank Lucas, one of the night brakemen in the Little Miami yards has been suffering from rheumatism for a few days past and has been unable for duty.

School will be resumed on Monday, when the hundreds of children throughout the city will again resume their tramp with books and slates. One of the things that has added greatly to the enjoyment of the youngsters is the excellent skating which the various ponds have afforded, and the children have made the best of their opportunities and have enjoyed it to the utmost.

The contractors are beginning to make inquiries for plans and specifications for the new system of sewers to be put in by the city. The commission is now preparing to advertise for bids for the work but it will be several weeks before the contract can be let.

The residents of Orient Hill are circulating a petition for the construction of a new school building for the accommodation of the children of that part of the city. Most of the children now attend the Central building and the Hill residents want a building nearer home and will ask the school board for a building on Hill street, at the most convenient position.

NOVEL RECIPES.

Salad Pecans—Blanch nuts in boiling water. Remove from water and dry thoroughly. Mix with a very little salt, spread on oiled paper and dry in a slow oven.

Creamed Cabbage—Wash the cabbage thoroughly and cut in pieces. Cook in boiling salted water half an hour or until tender. Drain, chop fine and to each two and one-half cups cabbage add one and one-half cups of white sauce. Pour into a buttered shallow baking dish and sprinkle with buttered crumbs. Bake in moderate oven until crumbs are brown.

Fried Parsnips—Boil parsnips until tender, then drop in cold water and rub off the skin. Cut in inch slices, season with salt, then dip in flour on both sides and brown. Or the parsnips may be mashed, mixed with seasonings and flour and shaped like meat cakes and fried.

Marguerites—Beat two eggs thoroughly. Add one cup brown sugar, one-half teaspoon salt and a few drops vanilla and beat until light. Add one-half cup sifted flour and one-quarter teaspoon baking powder mixed with three-quarters cup chopped nut meats, reserving a few nuts for garnishing. Pour into well-buttered pans and bake in a moderate oven. Whole or hopped nuts may be put on top of the cakes just before baking.

OLD-FASHIONED PIES.

The crust used for this class of pies is usually referred to as "plain crust," though it is quite rich enough for the purpose. It is made by rubbing a half cup each of butter and lard into two and one-half cups of bread flour or three cups of pastry flour, adding a saltspoon each of salt and baking powder. When thoroughly mixed add enough ice water to make a soft dough. This quantity makes two medium-sized pies.

New England Apple Pie—Line the pie plate with the crust already described. Pare, quarter and core a half-dozen tart apples, then slice them thin. Fill the pie plate, dot the apples with little lumps of butter and sprinkle with a half cup of brown sugar.

Take a teaspoon of ground ginger and a heaping teaspoon of flour and beat smooth with three-quarters cup of New Orleans molasses. When well mixed pour over the apples and put on the top crust, leaving the usual vents for escaping steam, but sealing the edges well together.

This pie is apt to cook out in the oven, and the addition of a little paper cone at one of the vents is a help in carrying away the steam more quickly, which is one of the causes of its cooking out.

Dixie Cinnamon Apple Pie—For one large pie, one quart of sliced apples is required; the pie plate is lined with a layer of pastry and filled with the sliced apples. A cupful of sugar, a tablespoon of flour and some powdered cinnamon are sprinkled over the apples and, last of all, a quarter of a cup of water. It is baked in a moderate oven for forty-five minutes.

A DISCUSSION ABOUT CLOTHES CHAPTER 56.

"That's a stunning dress!" Dick said when on Sunday I put on my Felice gown to wear to church. "It's all nonsense that women can't look well unless they bankrupt a man for clothes. That looks a million dollars. I suppose it is because you have good taste and know what to buy."

"I am glad you like it," I returned.

I well knew Dick thought I had purchased my dress with the $40 he had given me. He would expect me to get a waist of it as well. I almost laughed aloud at his ignorance. How easy it was for a woman to fool a man about clothes. Yet I hated myself for the thought. Dear old Dick! I would be awfully glad when I didn't have to, when I could say openly: "I bought this dress at Felice's and it cost—" whatever it did.

Really I should be ever so much happier. It wasn't natural for me to deceive; rather, it hadn't been when I was a girl at home. But in New York one saw so many beautiful things, the women were so chic, and one couldn't dress without spending money. So I had done things I would not have dreamed of doing at home. And Dick would be no happier if he knew—than would I when the necessity for deceiving him was passed.

So I argued, stultifying conscience. There was one thing I could not do without would not—that was handsome stylish clothes. I tried to save in other ways, pinching in buying for the table, although I took great pride in my cookery; doing believed I had a woman do, so that I might have a hat, gloves or shoes like those Mildred Stowell wore.

I never even considered that Mr. Stowell was a wealthy man, and Dick only a clerk. I went out with Mildred, and so I wanted, perhaps naturally, to look as well as she did.

It is a great mistake—I found out by bitter experience—to attempt to keep up social relations with people in a different social and financial strata. It costs to be in society, costs both money and time. To be just on the fringe, to know one or two people who have and can do so much more than is possible for oneself, leads to all sorts of things—temptation, trouble, divorce, et cetera. But like all foolish young women, I saw nothing of that then. To me it was most desirable to be known as Mildred Stowell's friend and intimate. I felt proud when Clara Watson and Laura Burbank acted jealous because I had lunched with Mildred, or been invited to a bridge or a dinner at her home. I recall once Laura said:

"I couldn't go if I were invited so it's just as well I don't know them."

"Why couldn't you go if you were asked?" I inquired.

"I couldn't afford to return her invitations, and I should feel under obligations, something I hate. Then I couldn't afford the clothes to train with her crowd. I don't see how you can."

"You forget Dick's father left him some money!" I explained rather some of the heavy work, that Dick loftily. I would have liked to say

The Woman He Married

BY JANE PHELPS

more, but I was always afraid the girls would say something before Dick, and he would blur out something to embarrass me. So I changed the subject as I always did when money was talked of.

But I had no objection to discussing clothes. I showed the girls my new dress I had bought of Felice. They had seen it when I gave my dinner for Dick's sister, but wanted to examine it.

It is perfectly lovely!" Laura enquired. "I'll bet you paid a bit price for it."

"Not so much. You see, Mrs. Stowell is such a wonderful customer that they made special prices to her and her friends. Then too, I have all the time I want to pay for them."

"You mean that you run in debt for clothes?" asked Laura in a horrified tone.

"Certainly! Why not? It is more convenient at times to pay than at other times. Why not take advantage of it?"

"Those smart places are awfully particular! I'll bet she would not have trusted you five cents worth if she didn't know Dick's father had left him something."

"I am going to her at once and have a gown if it's the last thing I ever do!" declared Clara.

"I wish I could, but Tom and I promised each other to save for a home, and I couldn't be so extravagant," Laura said, but a little sigh escaped her as she again looked at my gown.

MASONS CONFER HIGH DEGREES ON SEN. HARDING

President-elect Goes To Columbus To Receive Honors

HOLDS CONFERENCE

Speculation Rife as to Selection of Secretary Of Labor.

Marion, O., Jan. 5.—Warren G. Harding, master mason, laid aside affairs of state today to take up the square and the compass of ancient free and accepted masonry. He left here early today for Columbus where he will receive the masonic degrees from the fourth to the thirty second, under the auspices of the Scioto Valley consistory. Four of these degrees according to the program, will be conferred and the remainder will be communicated.

A group of 32nd degrees masons from Marion accompanied the cardinal carrying with them a masonic ring, to be presented to him when the fraternal bonds shall have been added to those friendship already existing.

Before the departure, the president-elect held brief conference with Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the Republican national committee and Clarence M. Woolley of the American Radiator company who discussed the business and labor situation.

The visit yesterday of W. N. Doak, regarded as the representative of the four railroad brotherhoods, has caused increased speculation as to the probable selection of a secretary of labor.

Doak's declaration that the wage earners of the country felt that the man chosen should "carry a union card" has placed emphasis on the candidacy of President John Lewis of the United Mine Workers and has added the names of W. G. Lee of Chicago, James O'Connel of Pennsylvania and others to the list supposed to be under the consideration.

Free predictions made by both labor leaders and employees of possible industrial strife have lent importance to the labor appointment, as it is felt a selection not antagonistic to either organized labor or employers would go far in averting discord.

Doak stated when asked about possible labor troubles that the brotherhoods were concerned exclusively with their own affairs and contemplated no sympathetic strikes whatever.

Senator Harding prepared for his experiences as a Masonic neophyte by aiding last night in initiating a number of candidates into Canby Lodge No. 51 Knights of Pythias of which he is a member.

SEVERAL THOUSAND THEATRICAL FOLK ARE UNEMPLOYED

As Result of Road Failures Many Are Stranded.

New York, Jan. 5.—Five thousand actors and actresses are unemployed in this city and many others are stranded at distant points, victims of wide-spread failure of road companies during the last year.

This statement was made by the Actors' Equity Association which announced it had undertaken the task of succoring the unfortunate stage folk, especially those thrown upon their own resources in distant cities.

The greater proportion of road failures the association asserted was due to irresponsible managers, who entered the profession during the World War, when the financing of theatrical projects comparatively was easy.

From September, 1919, to the end of 1920 more than 30 companies failed while on the road, the statement said.

WARNS AGAINST REPRISAL

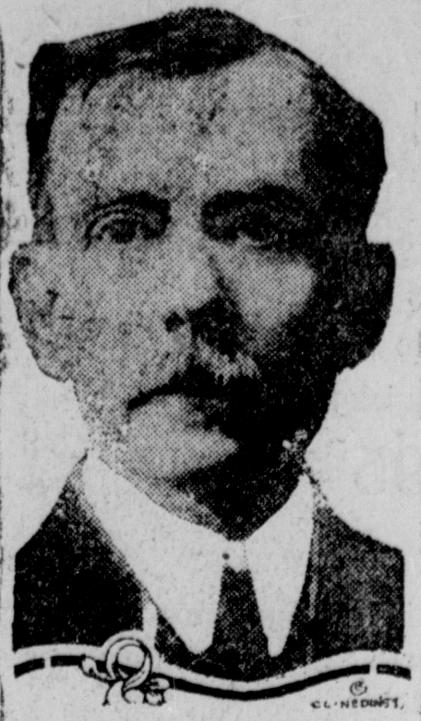

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 5.—In his message to the Democratic Legislature today, Governor A. H. Roberts urged that no reprisal legislation be attempted against the incoming Republican Governor. The date of the inauguration this month has not been fixed.

"$10 ENOUGH FOR INAUGURATION"—BORAH

Washington, Jan. 5.—"Why is an inaugural ball—and if so, how much? That's the riddle propounded by Senator Borah, who is 'dead agin' the proposal to revive the inaugural ball on March 4 with all its old time brilliancy and splendor. Four years ago $70,000 was appropriated for the inaugural ceremonies. This year it is said the expense will reach $100,000. I would like to limit the amount to be spent to $10, which is enough money to pay the President's automobile fare to the Capitol and back," says Senator Borah.

And if the Senator finds his ears tingling with such warmth that he the coldest day this winter, he'll know the reason. Fair society maidens and matrons are all talking and think his opposition to the bill is "just horrid."

PACIFIC FLEET ON WAY TO PANAMA FOR MANEUVERS

Will Meet Atlantic Squadron For Battle Practice.

San Diego, Cal., Jan. 5.—The vanguard of the Pacific fleet has steamed south for the winter maneuvers off Panama, where the Pacific and Atlantic fleets will meet for battle practice and athletic contests.

By noon Friday nearly half of the Pacific fleet, about forty vessels will be heading for the tropics.

The vessels which left here were the hospital ship Mercy and the tugs Sonoma and Ontario. The cruiser New York which left San Pedro was to join them from this port.

The fleet leaving here Friday will join the battleship fleet from San Pedro and San Francisco 25 miles off this port.

About forty vessels will still be based at San Diego harbor while the fleet is south.

Returning north the warships will again be in American waters March 8, according to present schedule.

The 14 airplanes and the convoying vessels enroute to Panama since Thursday will resume flight to Acapulco. They are laying over at Banderas bay, where the two giant NC type planes joined the twelve F-5-L planes late Monday after a fast trip across the gulf of California from Magdalena Bay. Today's trip will be 439 miles.

It added that the plotters intend to declare a union of Hungary and Austria.

OUTCASTS MAKE CANADIAN COLONY

Ottawa, Jan. 5.—The Ottawa Journal published a story that Oscar Tokoi, former Premier of Finland and in 1918 condemned to death by the Russian Soviet Government, had settled on a farm at North Temiskaming with 39 fellow exiles.

The man, the newspaper says, have formed a small colony after having been sent to Canada, where they received farm land from the British Government.

Tokoi was head of the Finish Diet when Kerensky was Premier of Russia under the early revolution. He was deposed and became a political exile.

WAR FINANCE CORPORATION MACHINERY AGAIN SET IN MOTION BY ACTION OF U. S. CONGRESS

SINN FEINERS ARE REPORTED KILLED IN SEVERE FIGHT

Irish Battle British Police Near Meelin, Report.

London, Jan. 5.—Sixteen Sinn Feiners were reported today to have been killed in a battle with British soldiers or policemen near Meelin, Ireland.

The first report of the fighting was said to be official but later the Irish office announced that it had no confirmation of it.

According to unconfirmed reports an attempt had been made to ambush the crown forces. The remaining members of the attacking party were said to have been captured and all their arms and ammunition confiscated.

Dublin, Jan. 5.—Sinn Fein attackers used machine guns as well as rifles in an attack upon two British military lorries in the region of Meelin, near Cork, according to information given out by officers attached to British military headquarters today.

The officers were without confirmation of the report that 15 or 16 men had been killed in the ambuscade.

According to this account the battle was a severe one and lasted for some time but the Sinn Feiners escaped. The attackers are believed to have suffered casualties.

MAUDE ADAMS WILL RETURN TO STAGE EARLY NEXT FALL

Denial Made That Actress Has Retired Permanently.

New York, Jan. 5.—Reports that Maude Adams had retired permanently from the stage were met last night with the announcement by A. L. Erlanger and Charles B. Dillingham that she would make a return to the revival measure. With its assistance he devoted considerable time today to a study of the provisions of the bill and of the methods that best can be followed to carry out the will of congress.

First there was a review of the corporations affairs showing its current assets to be about $73,000,000. This represents cash due from the United States treasurer, and includes the sale of government obligations to the secretary. But this book balance could not be used to finance export shipments, it was said; unless the treasury decides on such step through sale of a corresponding amount of treasury certificates of indebtedness.

Miss Adams has never had any intention of giving up her work as an actress," the announcement said.

"She is at present in splendid health having completely recovered from the illness that compelled her to abandon her tour in the autumn of 1918."

It was explained that in addition to appearing in regular productions each fall, Miss Adams would be seen every spring in Shakespeare and other classics.

FORMER BASEBALL PLAYER USES SKILL TO FELL BURGLAR

Officer Would Adopt Small Russians; U. S. Officials Object.

New York, Jan. 5.—Seven Russian children, brought here for adoption by Rear Admiral Newton A. McCully, former American High Commissioner at Sebastopol, were ordered to be excluded from the country by an Immigration Board of Inquiry at Ellis Island.

The order fell like a wet blanket on the hopes of the youngsters and the Read Admiral, who had played Santa Claus and father to them all the way from their native land on the collier Ramapo. They were to be his wards and his heirs, sharing his home at Washington and enjoying all educational facilities he could give to them.

But the Read Admiral announced that he would appeal to the Secretary of Labor; that he was ready to file as many and as high bonds as would be asked and that he intended to fight to the last ditch for admittance of the children. In the meantime the children will be detained at Ellis Island. The technical exclusion ruling officials was that the children were liable to become public charges.

Three other Russian children are to come to America later for adoption by the Admiral, making his brood 10. This would keep him "busy during all shore leaves," he said as he is a bachelor.

His niece in charge of Washington home during his absence, would help him care for the children. Rear Admiral McCully said, adding that he expected she would be "just as tickled as I am."

NO NAVAL ALLIANCE WITH CANADA, SAID

Washington, Jan. 5.—The United States has no plans for a naval alliance with Canada on the Pacific, Secretary of the Navy Daniels stated today.

Reports current in London have stated that a newly created Canadian navy is to co-operate with the United States navy in the Pacific, using American naval bases. These reports are entirely unfounded, Secretary Daniels said.

GERMAN RAILWAY WORKERS MAY STRIKE

London, Jan. 5.—A majority of the German railwaymen in the Ruhr district and the Rhine Valley have voted in favor of a general strike unless they are granted a wage increase, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Berlin today.

Reports current in London have stated that a newly created Canadian navy is to co-operate with the United States navy in the Pacific, using American naval bases. These reports are entirely unfounded, Secretary Daniels said.

REALISTIC PRESS AGENT STUNT CAUSES TROUBLE

Denver, Colo., Jan. 5.—A "realistic" press agent stunt nearly disrupted the home of Archie Young, a traveling salesman of this city.

A series of postcards containing endearable terms and signed by a woman calling attention to a risque scene in a movie that is expected to show here soon reached Young's home during his absence and were read by his wife. When he returned last night a tragedy was only averted by arrival of police who explained the nature of the cards to Mrs. Young.

The cards were mailed from St. Louis and have been received in hundreds of homes in the city.

Secretary Houston Begins Work of Reviving Export Loan Plans

WILL ISSUE BONDS

Two Members Must Be Added to Corporation to Make Quorum

Washington, Jan. 5.—Secretary of the Treasury Houston summoned his advisors into conference today to determine methods of reviving the export loan operations of the war finance corporation. Sixty or possibly ninety days may elapse before credit machinery can be set up to provide the benefits directed by congress when it passed the measure over the president's veto, officials said.

Flotation of a large issue of corporation bonds to provide credit for shipments of farm products probably will be decided upon. The size of such a bond issue and other details in connection with revival of the corporations export loan functions are to be determined.

An unexpected delay also may appear through the necessity of adding two members to the corporation. When the loan operations were suspended two vacancies were created. The corporation now has three directors. Revision of the loan work necessitates the filing of the two vacancies, to provide a quorum, under terms of the law creating that body.

Secretary Houston withheld discussion of the extent of the work and the manner of its accomplishment under the revision measure. With its assistance he devoted considerable time today to a study of the provisions of the bill and of the methods that best can be followed to carry out the will of congress.

First there was a review of the corporations affairs showing its current assets to be about $73,000,000. But this book balance could not be used to finance export shipments, it was said; unless the treasury decides on such step through sale of a corresponding amount of treasury certificates of indebtedness.

Meanwhile citizens learned that no increase in the city police force is possible at this time unless funds are provided through means of a loan. To meet the situation an offer was made by American Legion posts to furnish 1,000 members to act as plain clothes policemen.

The chamber of commerce at the same time took steps to ask the enactment of a law providing for a minimum penalty of 20 years for carrying a gun and life imprisonment for stealing an automobile.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 5.—With farmers hauling their tobacco away from warehouses and returning to their barns and every market of importance announced as closing for at least one week, the situation in the central Kentucky tobacco region last night was in state of uncertainty. Just what will happen none could be found to offer forecast, but growers, buyers and others interested in the crop indicated that they were ready for anything.

Delegations from various important markets in the district visited the Burley Tobacco Growers' Association office here and announced that other places would follow the lead of Lexington.

The order fell like a wet blanket on the hopes of the youngsters and the Read Admiral, who had played Santa Claus and father to them all the way from their native land on the collier Ramapo. They were to be his wards and his heirs, sharing his home at Washington and enjoying all educational facilities he could give to them.

MINES CHIEF NAMED.
Washington, Jan. 5.—H. Foster Bain of California, was nominated by President Wilson to be director of the bureau of mines.

The proposition was presented to the committee by Charles E. Lobdell, farm loan commissioner and member of the farm loan board. It is argued that under the present and probable financial conditions in this country during the next year the retirement of these bonds at the date of their maturity will withdraw so much money from industry as to seriously impair the ability of the banks to care for the needs.

The committee members expressed reluctance to act in the matter until the U. S. Supreme Court shall have rendered a decision in a case that is pending before that tribunal testing the legality of the law under which the farm bonds were issued.

FARM LAND BONDS MAY BE EXTENDED

Washington, Jan. 4.—The proposal to extend for a period of five years the farm land bonds which mature in May, 1922, was considered today by the house banking and currency committee. These bonds aggregate $340,000,000.

FACES JURY WITH EASY ATTITUDE

Bridgeport, Conn., Jan. 5—Elwood B. Wade, 23 miles dealer charged with the murder of George B. Nott, broker, looked his mother and smiled as court convened today. For a few minutes before the bailiff rapped for order, Wade, who looked tired and somewhat worried, soon was talking and laughing with his custodians.

Mrs. Ethel Nott, widow of the slain man, and John E. Johnson, a chum, who are charged with being Wade's accomplices in the murder, were not present when court convened.

Wade soon regained his bonhomie attitude. His jaw showed no traces of a deputy sheriff's blow, for the simple reason that Wade was not struck when he leaned over and kissed Mrs. Nott, yesterday as reported.

OLDEST MAN IN THE WORLD ILL FOR FIRST TIME IN 146 YEARS; BLAMES FALSE TEETH

Constantinople, Jan. 5.—For the first time in his life of 146 years Zora Mehmed, who is said to be the oldest man in the world, is ill.

He is suffering from indigestion, for which he bears a set of false teeth.

All his working life Zora has been a carrier of heavy weights, ranging from 200 to 1,000 pounds.

During the Napoleonic wars he had a bet that he could lift 500 pounds with his teeth, and he ruined them in making the attempt. He got along for some time without any teeth, and then he obtained a set which wore out.

About twenty years ago he got another set, which, he says have always given him indigestion and have finally made him go to the hospital for treatment of the complaint.

Zora was born in Turkish Armenia, as the birth record in the mosque there shows, in 1774.

He has a son aged ninety and a young daughter of fifty. In appearance he is only about seventy.

G. Osborn, judge of Municipal court, Columbus.

DID WE HELP OR HURT BY "ENTANGELING ALLIANCES" AFTER THE WAR?

London Dispatch, January 1st, 1921: "Never has the new year opened with the outlook so obscure as 1921, for never has the whole world been confronted with such difficult problems as it faces for the coming twelve months. In the past, individual countries and empires have been threatened with and have suffered destruction, but never has the entire world been threatened with disaster as it is threatened today. After the Napoleonic wars, Europe suffered from trade depression and social unrest, but in those days every nation was, for all political purposes, self-contained and able to support its relatively small population out of its own production. Now nations are not self-contained and they cannot support their relatively small populations out of their own resources unless they have the power to sell to other countries the surplus of those things which they can produce and to buy from other countries whatever they cannot produce themselves."

"There is a real danger of nations not being in position to buy or sell even as much as they did in 1920 and consequently it seems to be practically certain that an era of privation and suffering will in the next twelve months be extended to every country in the world in greater or lesser degree."

This certainly is a gloomy outlook, and just at the time that we were congratulating ourselves that we were bettering things. We were feeling proud that we had stopped war, and through the League of Nations we were going to inaugurate peace the world over. Surely the stoppage of the war was a move in the right direction, but have we bettered matters by tearing the nations apart and trying to readjust them? Who can answer this mighty question?

HERE'S HOPING 1921 MAY TREAT US BETTER AS A NATION THAN 1920 DID.

Everybody is glad to see an old year go, for however hopefully we start out with it (and we always start that way), we are usually convinced before it is over that we made a mistake in picking it—it is the year ahead, that is going to work the marvels for us. "Man never is but always to be blest."

The old world was broke and couldn't buy our products, and huge stocks that had cost the top notch to produce remained on our hands. The result was a stoppage everywhere. People wouldn't buy and merchants canceled their orders. Then, of course, the factories had to shut down, and it doesn't take an economist to know that throwing people out of employment doesn't start buying. One of our biggest business men, whom we call the farmer, was caught with a tremendous production which had cost him war prices to get ready for market and for which the year 1920 provided no market. The farmer's cattle that he had been boarding at hotel prices wouldn't fetch their keep. His wheat that had been planted and harvested and hauled and warehoused by the most expensive labor ever known on a farm—collapsed in price almost out of sight.

That's what 1920 did to business, which is to say it did it to everybody for the way we're all interlocked in the modern industrial system—farmer, manufacturer, merchant, wage earner—one can't be knocked down without the whole row of dominoes following. We all went down, and 1920 stood around and watched us try to get up. Being down, government thought it a favorable opportunity too, to load a few more taxes on our backs—and that didn't help us to get up. Strange, too, government seemed to think it would.

That seems to be a fair and unprejudiced statement, if a brief one, of the kind of a year 1920 was. It was a period we may hope is going now if not gone. At any rate here is a new year, and anything new is promising.

EACH FAMILY PAYS $200 A YEAR.

The government, so far as finances are concerned, is simply a panhandler. When it wants money it writes to the folks, and all it gets is letters from home. If it spends 4 billion or more a year, it asks every family to contribute on the average $200 apiece to support it.

Two hundred dollars a family is a lot of money. It keeps millions of people busy scratching to raise it. Every head of a house would find it much easier to support his family if he didn't have to send that $200 to Washington.

That is why people are incensed by the extravagance of the government departments that make no effort to hold down expenses, and particularly by the action of men like Secretary Baker, who enjoys spending other people's money, and who now proposes to throw away Camp Funston while asking for 4 million dollars as a starter for permanent barracks at Camp Pike, an army post that for some reason has caught his fancy.—Exchange.

THE PEPTIMIST.

The peptimist is one who works with most exceeding vim, and sets example to the shirks who may keep tab on him. So many men, with dragging feet, go to their tasks each day, with scowls they shuck the ears of wheat and thrash the bales of hay. With scowls they ply the shinin' gaw or wield the useful churn; they're only happy when they draw the pay they think they earn. And when there is a slump in trade, and workmen must be fired, these delegates are first to fade—they've made the bosses tired. The peptimist has taken pride in labors safe and sane, whatever tool he may have plied, a corkscrew or a plane. He did not go with dragging step when morning whistles blew; in every motion there was pep, no sulky fits he threw. And when a slump in trade appears, and workmen are laid off, the boss announces, through his tears, "We'll keep this hustling toff. We can't afford to let him go, he's such a useful man; we'll keep him, though, to Tom and Joe we must attach the can." The peptimist is in demand wherever commerce dwells; he makes his progress through the land, and wears his string of bells.

NEW CURRENCY TO MAKE APPEARANCE IN FRANCE, REPORT

A new form of money is about to make its appearance in France. This new currency, according to information received from its Paris correspondent by the Bankers Trust Company, of New York, will be coins made from a composition of bronze and aluminum. It will replace the emergency paper money issued during the war in two, one and one-half franc denominations. The new money will affect reform in French "pocket money" by providing small change that is more convenient, durable and sanitary than the paper bills.

The two franc, one franc and 50 centime bills, because of the depreciation of French money, have been used as small change along with the old ten and twenty-five centime coin with the result that they have been submitted to wear which small paper bills cannot long withstand. These paper bills were issued temporarily by the various Chambers of Commerce in France under a special agreement with the Government under which an equal amount of Bank of France notes are deposited in the Bank of France by the Chambers of Commerce for paper money which they issue.

The small paper currency will be withdrawn as fast as the new coins are issued. Since there is some difficulty in securing the metal necessary to make the coins it is estimated that it will take two or three years to complete the change.

It is difficult to secure an exact statement of the amount of small paper money to date. It is certain however that the figure is at least four hundred million francs. The amount actually in circulation is about three hundred millions, one million having been either reimbursed or kept by collectors or destroyed by use.

The new coins or "jetons" will be acceptable throughout France and will be issued under the responsibility of the Ministry of Finance the Chambers of Commerce serving merely as the distributing medium.

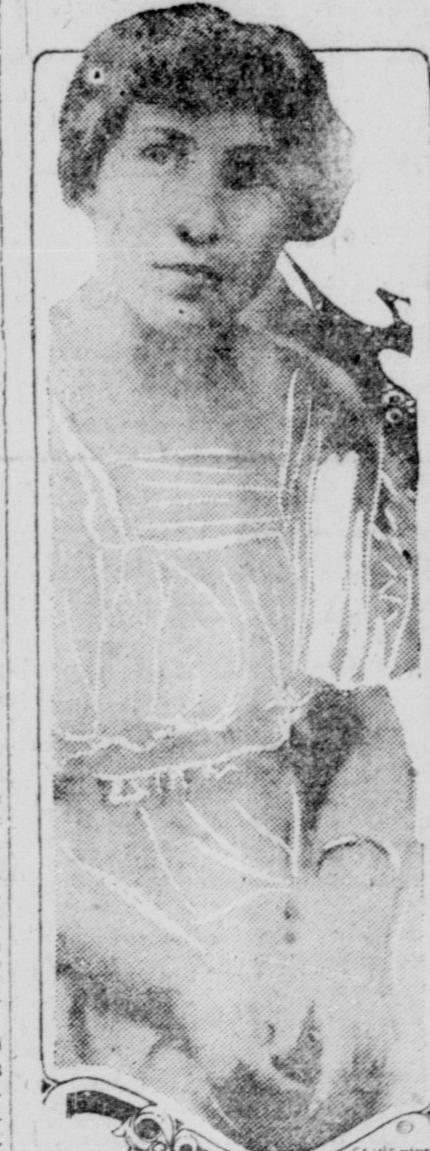

Because of the shortage of nickel and copper coins as well as small bills, the handling of street car fares and small purchases has caused general embarrassment for some month. The Compagnie Generale Omnibus which controls practically all the surface lines in Paris has applied to the city authorities for permission to issue small coins of its own for facilitating the payment of fares. These coins when issued will be produced by a private firm and will be acceptable only as fare.

MAIL PLANE IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 4.—A United States air mail plane was destroyed by fire with 200 pounds of mail here today following a spectacular landing by pilot F. F. Borgs, in the heart of the residential district. Borgs set out for Reno this morning and 2,000 feet up his motor stalled. On account of a heavy fog there was absolutely no visibility and trusting to luck the flyer coasted down. Fifty feet above their tops he discovered the residences lining Gough's street near Hayes. Borgs maneuvered his plane so as to effect a landing in the car tracks of Gough's street.

The motor trouble recurred in the plane bursting into flames upon landing. Borgs escaped unharmed.

Foley's Honey and Tar COMPOUND

CLEAR'S THE THROAT of phlegm and mucus, stops that tickling, opens the air passages for easier breathing and heals the raw, inflamed surfaces with a healing, soothing medicine.

Grateful Father Tells What It Did
W. E. CURRY, 130 Up 6th St., Evansville, Ind., writes: "I have a little girl 6 years who has a good deal of trouble with croup. I have used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, giving it to her according to directions and obtaining instant relief for her. My wife and I use it whenever bothered with a bad cold or cough, and I will say that it is the best remedy for a bad cold, cough, throat trouble or croup that I ever saw."

Parents who use Foley's Honey and Tar know it is safe and no harm will come even if an overdose should be given by accident. It tastes good and children like it. It won't upset the delicate stomachs of young children, delicate persons or elderly people.

Throughout the afternoon and night of the 14th the men trudged through the snow. Fortunately there was little if any frost in the air. They had taken with them all the provisions left on the balloon including the three carrier pigeons.

On the 16th the men began to despair. They realized they were lost and began to fear that they would perish in the wilderness. By this time all the food had been eaten and two of the three carrier pigeons were killed and eaten.

Note: The account fails to say what happened to the third pigeon. It is possible it may have been released with a message and lost its way. This part of the dramatic story will not be revealed until the men reach the railhead here or at Mattice.

Plans were then made for a second expedition for the balloon later on.

After resting over Christmas in the trading post, where they had a feast of venison steak, the Americans set out in sledges guided by Indian runners.

(Note: According to the Anglican minister account the men were leaving Moose Factory on December 26 but the Americans had reported in their telegram of last Sunday to the Rockaway naval authorities that they would depart on December 27.)

The Rev. Hawthorne White, the Anglican minister at Moose Factory, quoted the balloonists as saying they could have stayed in the air only a few hours longer as they had thrown out all their ballast.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Ninety Pennsylvania road officials, friends and fellow employees of Howard Norris, who retired as supervisor of telegraph and signals in the electrical and mechanical department, January 1, were seated at the banquet given in his honor at the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening.

The chicken banquet was the climax of an informal reception held for Mr. Norris at four o'clock, and was prepared and served by the wives of employees of the telegraph and signal department, with Mrs. B. L. Hughey in charge.

THIS IS THE BIRTHDAY OF CICERO

Cicero was the greatest orator in Roman history just as Demosthenes was the greatest orator in ancient Greece. Every girl or boy who studies Latin is obliged to translate some of Cicero's orations, usually his most famous one against Cataline.

Marcus Tullius Cicero was born in the small town of Arpinum in Italy 106 years before the birth of Christ and he was killed near Rome in the year 43 B. C. As Rome derived all her greatness from Greece it was natural that her prominent men should be sent there to study. Cicero who had taken up literature at an early age, and who had even made a name as a politician when he was 25 went to Athens to study philosophy, came back "cured of his faults," and as he says "a changed man."

Shortly after his return he married a very domineering woman. It is supposed that he thought of defending Cataline, but his wife persuaded him to speak against him. Although he sometimes quarreled with Caesar, he was a firm friend of the conqueror and was very much grieved when he was murdered. At various times during his career he was obliged to take refuge in literature (which amounted to a voluntary exile) to save his life.

Although the new emperor Octavian desired to have him, he was killed and his head and hands were sent to Rome after Fulvia, wife of his enemy, Marc Anthony, had thrust a hair pin through his tongue. His last words were "Let me die in the country which I have so often saved," a remark which seems to show that he was well aware of his own importance to the glory of Rome.

TREASURER BURKE RESIGNS

Washington, Jan. 5.—John Burke, treasurer of the U. S., announced his resignation, effective upon the appointment of his successor.

Is It Yours

THIS IS THE BIRTHDAY OF STEPHEN DECATUR

January 5, 1779

One of our early great naval commanders, Stephen Decatur, was born in Maryland in 1779. His father had been on the sea, in fact, had been in command of a ship which was used to capture British vessels during the Revolution. After the war, he settled in Philadelphia, then in Maryland.

At 19, Stephen began his naval career—the manner then was to become a "midship" on a vessel. He distinguished himself first when, with a squadron in the Mediterranean, he offered to set fire to one of our captured vessels, which the people of Tripoli had in their possession. With a few men he stole into the harbor, set fire to the boat and got away again under a raking fire with the loss of only one man wounded. Nelson said it was "the most daring exploit of the age," and Decatur was an international hero for a long time.

He was made a captain and given a sword by Congress and served all through the war with Tripoli. In the war of 1812, his ship captured one of the British vessels, but later when he had command of New York Harbor, he was blockaded by the British and his flagship fought against four English ships. He was captured and as much honored by his foes as his countrymen for the way he fought.

He was killed a few years later in a duel with a man who thought Decatur had said something against his good name.

When you work too hard, you get fatigued. You probably keep it up for days, perhaps months, without feeling any bad effects. Sooner or later it tells in your blood. You are not yourself.

It is then your blood needs the help of that great tonic, Pepto-Mangan. It is a wonderful remedy that physicians have recommended for thirty years.

But be sure you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan. Ask for "Gude's" and be sure that the full name "Gude's Pepto-Mangan," is on the package. You can buy it in liquid form or in tablets, whichever you prefer; one has the same ingredients as the other and gives the same effect. Advertisement.

BIG STEEL COMPANY ANNOUNCES CUTS

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 4.—Just before noon today, the Jones & Laughlin Steel company, largest of the independents, announced a reduction in selling prices on pipe and other tubular products to the level of the industrial board prices established March 21, 1919. Drain, chop fine and to each two and one-half cups cabbage add one and one-half cups of white sauce. Pour into a buttered shallow baking dish and sprinkle with buttered crumbs. Bake in moderate oven until crumbs are brown.

Fried Parsnips. Boil parsnips until tender, then drop in cold water and rub off the skin. Cut in inch slices, season with salt, then dip in flour on both sides and brown. Or the parsnips may be mashed, mixed with seasonings and flour and shaped like meat cakes and fried.

Marguerites. Beat two eggs thoroughly. Add one cup brown sugar, one-half teaspoon salt and a few drops vanilla and beat until light. Add one-half cup sifted flour and one-quarter teaspoon baking powder mixed with three-quarters cup chopped nut meats, reserving a few nuts for garnishing. Pour into well-buttered pans and

bake in a moderate oven. Whole or hopped nuts may be put on top of the cakes just before baking.

OLD-FASHIONED PIES.

The crust used for this class of pies is usually referred to as "plain crust," though it is quite rich enough for the purpose. It is made by rubbing a half cup each of butter and lard into two and one-half cups of bread flour or three cups of pastry flour, adding a saltspoon each of salt and baking powder. When thoroughly mixed add enough ice water to make a soft dough. This quantity makes two medium sized pies.

New England Apple Pie. Line the pie plate with the crust already described. Pare, quarter and core a half-dozen tart apples, then slice them thin. Fill the pie plate, dot the apples with little lumps of butter and sprinkle with a half cup of brown sugar.

Take a teaspoon of ground ginger and a heaping teaspoon of flour and beat smooth with three-quarters cup of New Orleans molasses. When well mixed pour over the apples and put on the top crust, leaving the usual vents for escaping steam, but sealing the edges well together.

This pie is apt to cook out in the oven, and the addition of a little paper cone at one of the vents is a help in carrying away the steam more quickly, which is one of the causes of its cooking out.

Dixie Cinnamon Apple Pie. For one large pie one quart of sliced apples is required; the pie plate is lined with a layer of pastry and filled with the sliced apples. A cupful of sugar, a tablespoon of flour and some powdered cinnamon are sprinkled over the apples and, last of all, a quarter of a cup of water. It is baked in a moderate oven for forty-five minutes.

A DISCUSSION ABOUT CLOTHES CHAPTER 56.

"That's a stunning dress!" Dick said when on Sunday I put on my Felice gown to wear to church. "It's all nonsense that women can't look well unless they bankrupt a man for clothes. That looks a million dollars. I suppose it is because you have good taste and know what to buy."

"I am glad you like it," I returned. I well knew Dick thought I had purchased my dress with the $40 he had given me. He would expect me to get a waist of it as well. I almost laughed aloud at his ignorance. How easy it was for a woman to fool a man about clothes. Yet I hated myself for the thought. Dear old Dick! I would be awfully glad when I didn't have to, when I could say openly: "I bought this dress at Felice's and it cost—whatever it did."

Really I should be ever so much happier. It wasn't natural for me to deceive; rather, it hadn't been when I was a girl at home. But in New York one saw so many beautiful things, the women were so chic, and one couldn't dress without spending money. So I had done things I would not have dreamed of doing at home. And Dick would be no happier—if he knew—than would I when the necessity for deceiving him was passed.

So I argued, stultifying conscience.

There was one thing I could not do without would not—that was handsome stylish clothes. I tried to save in other ways, pinching in buying for the table, although I took great pride in my cookery; doing

I believed I had a woman do, so that I might have a hat, gloves or shoes like those Mildred Stowell wore.

I never even considered that Mr. Stowell was a wealthy man, and Dick only a clerk. I went out with Mildred, and so I wanted, perhaps naturally, to look as well as she did.

It is a great mistake—I found out by bitter experience—to attempt to keep up social relations with people in a different social and financial strata.

It costs to be in society, both money and time. To be just on the fringe, to know one or two people who have and can do so much more than is possible for oneself, leads to all sorts of things—temptation, trouble, divorce, etc.

But like all foolish young women, I saw nothing of that then. To me it was most desirable to be known as Mildred Stowell's friend and intimate. I felt proud when Clara Watson and Laura Burbank acted jealous because I had lunched with Mildred, or been invited to a bridge or a dinner at her home. I recall once Laura said:

"I couldn't go if I were invited, so it is just as well I don't know them."

"Why couldn't you go if you were asked?" I inquired.

"I couldn't afford to return her invitations, and I should feel under obligations, something I hate. Then I couldn't afford the clothes to train with her crowd. I don't see how you can."

"You forget Dick's father left him some money!" I explained rather some of the heavy work, that Dick loyally. I would have liked to say

"I am going to her at once and have a gown if it's the last thing I ever do!" declared Clara.

"I wish I could, but Tom and I promised each other to save for a home and I couldn't be so extravagant," Laura said, but a little sigh escaped her as she again looked at my gown.
